

6. WHY MUST WE BURY LOVE

George Zmozek/Marcel Zmozek

English text Buddy Axley, Jan Talafant & George Zmozek

The bells of death are now heard from afar.

My friend left so much love in my heart, he was, he was

He was, so good.

This man was good and he stood upon his word.

For the ages, His love will remain.

Why do people hate kindness, with such disdain.

Why do they, so disdain

Whatever was a new beginning of love

My friends, we must not bury this love,

My friends, we should not destroy beauty

My friends, with grief, why must we bury,

Our sons, our sons

Why have we, our hearts hardened, like stone

Why have we, let anger be enthroned

Why do we reject the great gift of-- salvation, salvation

space

Speech – recitation:

„Son, we are shedding tears over you

And lamenting and suffering greatly.

In bitter weeping and sorrowful wailing

It seems only right, to be in mourning.

May our lamentation and tears

Change into the love

Which you had in your heart.“

space

My friends, we must not bury this love

My friends we should not destroy beauty

My friends, with grief, why must we bury,

Our sons, our sons

Why have we, our hearts hardened, like stone

Why have we, let anger be enthroned

Why do we reject the great gift of--- salvation, salvation, salvation

So let our tears cease, changed from above

Through your love

Through your love

Through your love
